Reading Log

After choosing a book of your choice, you will read for 20 minutes, then record in your journal for 8 minutes (put these entries in your composition book). I'll collect and grade your entries AFTER our grammar unit.

For each journal entry, write the date on top of your entry.

Reading Journal #1:

- What is the name of the book?
- What led you to choose this title? (saw it in a store, friend's recommendation, etc.).
- What do you hope to gain from this book?
- Summarize the portion that you read today.
- Write about a character that you encountered today.

Reading Journal #2-5

(Do not respond to every question. Find a couple that you feel like writing on today)

- Summarize the portion that you read today.
- Write about a character that you encountered today.
- Write a prediction that you have in this story (e.g. I think this man is going to get into trouble with the police because...)
- Personal feelings on this portion
- Discuss a passage that you found interesting

Reading Journal #6

- Write a response to this book. You can choose to write about any area you'd like (What I liked, what I learned, how it represents me and my situation). Remember the C.S. Lewis quote: "We read to know we are not alone." How does that apply?

Name: _____ Period: _____ Date: _____

All six entries are due on Monday, 10/2 (or 10/3 for period 6) after our reading and writing time. You will complete #6 in class that day, then turn in your composition book. I will not accept work that is not in the specified composition book needed for this class.
